About the IPC

The IPC's vision is for an inclusive world through Para sport. We believe that change starts with sport, and that the work of the Paralympic Movement is a catalyst for driving social inclusions and advancing the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and the 17 Sustainable Development Goals.

The IPC seeks to use the influential global position of the Paralympic Movement and the growing profile of Para athletes to challenge the stigma attached to disability and empower social transformation.

The IPC is the global governing body of the Paralympic Movement. We supervise the organisation of the Paralympic Games and Paralympic Winter Games and serve as international federation for 10 Para sports.

The IPC is a purpose-driven non-profit association. Our mission is to lead the Paralympic Movement, oversee the delivery of the Paralympic Games and support members to enable Para athletes to achieve sporting excellence. Since 1989, we have creating change through sport with the Paralympic Games and Paralympic athlete at our core.

Sport Against Stigma Project

Over the next four years (2020 - 2024), the IPC will jointly deliver, with the University of Loughborough, a four-pillar project focused on education, Para athlete development in Para athletics and Para powerlifting and broadcasting of the Tokyo 2020 Paralympic Games to tackle stigma against people with disabilities, and support diversity and inclusion within the African region. The project is part of the Assistive Technology 2030 programme led by the Global Disability Innovation Hub and funded by the UK Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office.

This initiative is also aligned with the World Para sports (WPS) focus areas of sport for development and pathways and strategic objectives of giving every person with disability the opportunity to practice Para sport and support Para athletes, coaches and volunteers to transition from grassroots to high performance.

The three targeted countries are Ghana, Malawi, and Zambia. This group comprises a range of languages, scales of population and a mix of cultural/social situations, especially in relation to stigma toward people with disabilities and athlete development.

- Understanding the current situation, environment and needs of the NPCs/NFs to offer opportunities for Para athletes in the two sport disciplines and present three country assessment documents;
- Using qualitative data processes to gather information;
- Soliciting feedback from a variety of stakeholders (i.e. World Para Sports, IPC, National Federations, Para athletes, coaches, volunteers, etc.);
- Analysing qualitative data and working together with the NPCs, IPC, and World Para Sports to define the main goals and activities of the action plan. The NPCs will have a seed grant to implement these activities;
- Monitoring and evaluating of action plans and in-country support to ensure timely implementation of the plans; and
